Can Movers Take Furniture Apart and Reassemble It?

You're staring at your oversized bedframe, bulky wardrobe, or L-shaped sofa and wondering — "Will the movers take this apart?"

The short answer is: yes. Professional movers can disassemble and reassemble most standard furniture. However, service inclusions vary by provider.

At London Man Van, we offer optional furniture disassembly and reassembly as part of our moving services. It's a great way to protect your belongings and speed up the move — especially for larger or awkward items.

Below, we answer common questions to help you prepare for a seamless moving day.

1. Do Movers Disassemble and Reassemble Furniture?

Yes. Most professional movers offer disassembly and reassembly of standard furniture items as an optional service.

At London Man Van, our team is trained to dismantle and rebuild furniture to ensure safe and damage-free transport.

2. What Types of Furniture Can Movers Take Apart?

Movers can handle most flat-pack and modular furniture. This includes:

- ?? Bed frames (wood, metal, IKEA-style)
- ? Wardrobes and closets
- ?? Sofas, sectionals, and recliners
- ?? Desks, bookshelves, TV stands
- ? Dining tables and chairs with detachable parts

Not included unless pre-arranged:

- Built-in or wall-mounted units
- Fragile antiques or custom-made items
- Furniture connected to plumbing/gas

3. Is Disassembly and Reassembly Included in the Moving Service?

Not always. It's usually available as an add-on.

London Man Van offers disassembly and reassembly as an optional service. Confirm this during your booking to avoid surprises.

4. Should I Disassemble Furniture Before Movers Arrive?

It's up to you. If you want to reduce moving time or cost, consider disassembling simpler items yourself. If you prefer convenience and safety, we'll handle it. Just let us know in advance.

5. How Long Does It Take for Movers to Take Apart Furniture?

Time depends on item complexity and access. On average:

- ?? Bed frame – 15–30 minutes
- ? Wardrobe – 30–45 minutes
- ?? Large sofa – 30–60 minutes

More complex furniture may take longer.

6. Do Movers Bring Their Own Tools for Furniture Disassembly?

Yes. Our team arrives with all standard tools needed to dismantle and reassemble furniture efficiently. No need to supply anything yourself unless a specialised tool is required for custom furniture.

7. Is There an Extra Cost for Furniture Assembly and Disassembly?

Yes. This service is optional and priced based on item type, complexity, and the time required.

- ? Number of items
- ?? Furniture size
- ? Estimated time
- ? Labour required

You can add this service during online booking or by calling us directly.

How to Prepare Furniture for Movers

If you plan to disassemble furniture yourself:

- ? Use manufacturer's manuals or online guides
- ? Place screws and bolts in labelled bags
- ? Tape hardware to the corresponding furniture
- ? Take pictures of furniture before disassembly

? Prefer not to deal with it? Just ask us to take care of it for you.
